The "Civil Liberties" publishes under the heading "Service Commission Examination Centres", the following statement from Sri C.V. Reddi, President of the Nellore District Committee:-

The Madras Service Commission conducts once annually examinations at certain centres. The centres in Andhradesa are Vizagapatam, Rajahmundry, Guntur, Cuddapah and Anantapur. As Nellore is not a centre our people have to go to Cuddapah, Guntur and Madras. Most of them go to Cuddapah. Nearly 70 per cent of the people who sit for examination in Cuddapah are from Nellore. There are no proper facilities for candidates there. They are subject to diseases like Malaria and Punjab itches. Nor is there sufficient supply of water for drinking and bathing. It is regrettable that Nellore Town is not made a centre though there are plenty of facilities and many candidates there. I am sure that the Hon'ble the Minister for Education will attend to this and make Nellore which is neglected in all directions an examination centre.
